

Porcelain Academy Meissen non-profit GmbH

Meissen in Europe

Europe, Saxony, and the City of Meissen

Porcelain Academy Meissen non-profit GmbH

Europe is a continent with many countries and cultures.

Trade, science, art and education connect the countries.

Porcelain Academy Meissen non-profit GmbH

Meissen in Germany, in Saxony

Germany is located in Central Europe.

The capital is Berlin.

Germany is a member of the European Union.

The Federal Republic of Germany consists of 16 federal states.

Porcelain between tradition and modernity

Workshops

Offers and activities of the Academy:
Lectures and workshops on porcelain design,
'Artist in Residence', 'Student Exchange', scholarships for national and international artists, exhibitions,
Presentations and cultural events
The INTERNATIONAL PORCELAIN AND CERAMICS FAIR

Learning - Researching - Creating

at the Meissen Porcelain Academy non-profit GmbH

PAM stands for Porcelain Academy Meissen.

The academy promotes knowledge transfer in the field of porcelain art.

It combines local tradition with contemporary design.

It is aimed at artists and other interested people.

International collaboration is an important goal.

Learning: Understand techniques and put them into practice.

Exploring: Discover materials, glazes, and processes.

Creating: Bring your own artistic ideas to life.

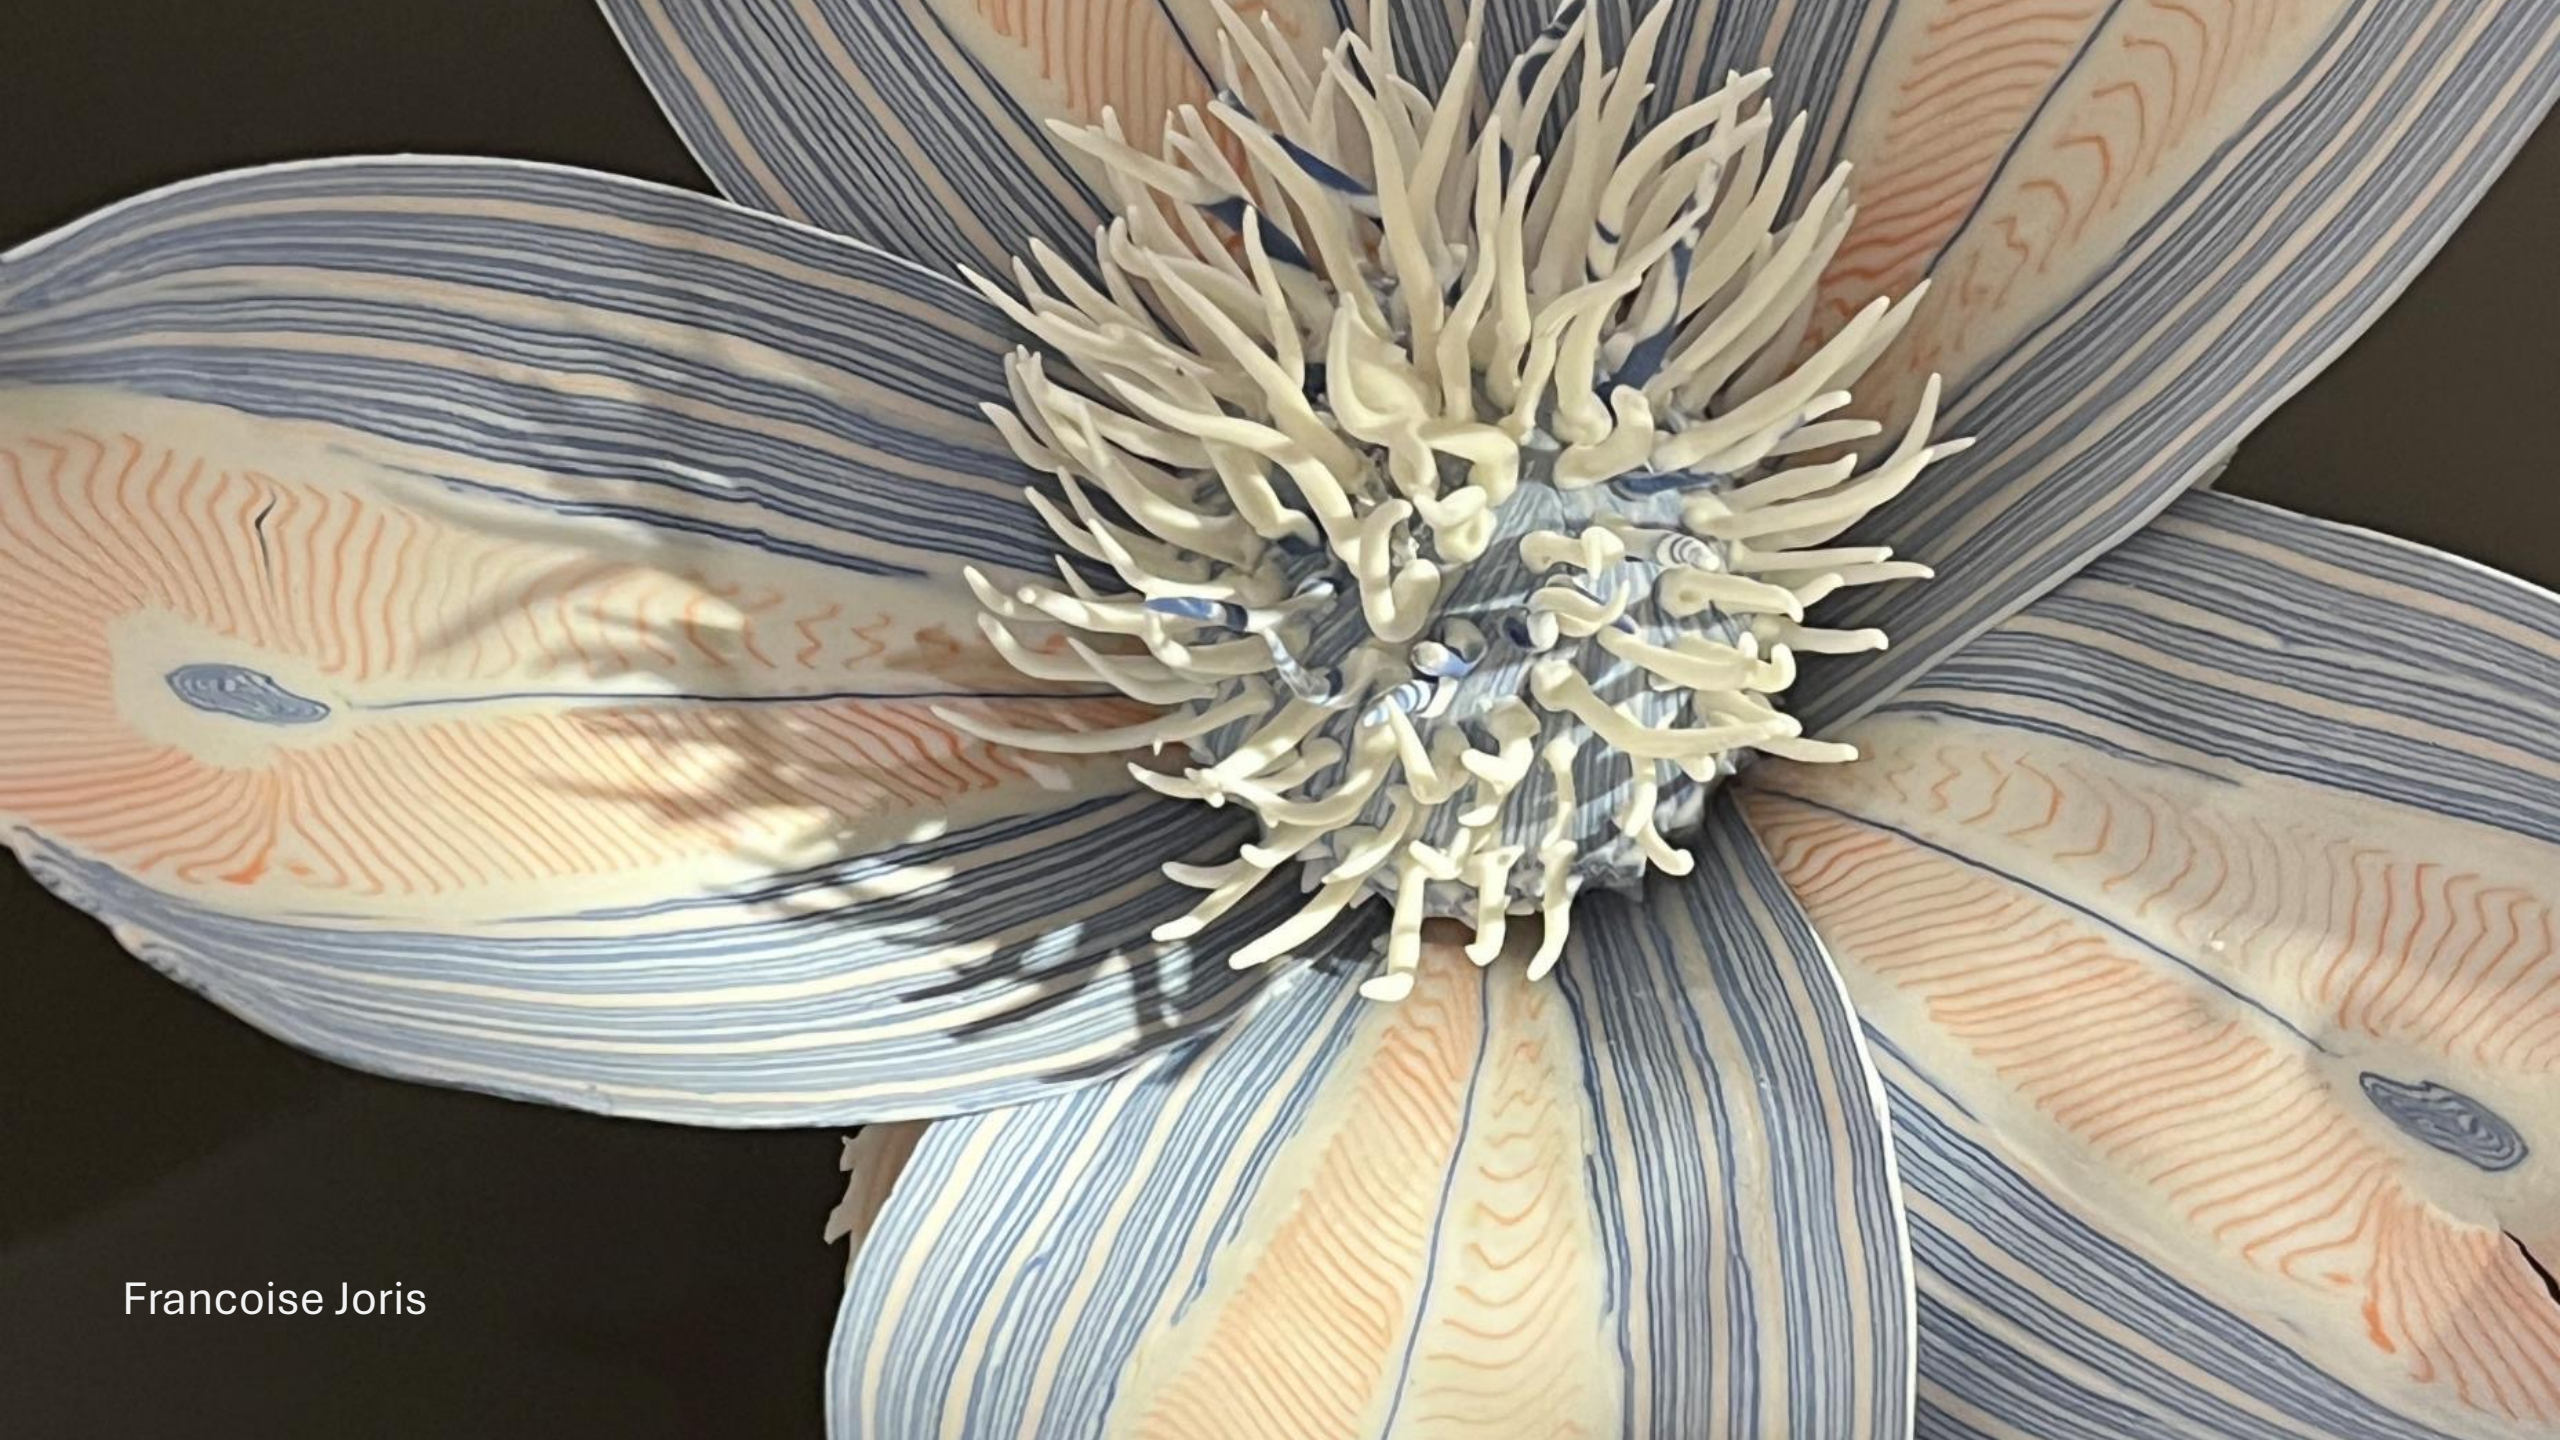

Sharing: Exchange experiences with other artists.

Teacher Guy van Leemput

Judith de Vries

Francoise Joris

Porcelain Academy Meissen non-profit GmbH

We look forward to your visit and your applications.

Thank you for your attention.

www.porzellan-akademie.de

Sources:

porzellan-akademie.de

Geschichte des Porzellans in Meißen

Fotos:

Beate Pfefferkorn

Peggy Lange

Geschichte des Porzellans in Meißen